

MUSIC WEEK ENDS IN CHORUS COCERT

Throng at Central High Enthusiastic Over Program in "Old-Time" Costumes.

As a climax to the impromptu recital held at the White House during the afternoon, and a finale to the most artistic musical success ever held in this section of the country, a tremendous out-pouring thronged the Central High School auditorium last night to hear the singing of the "Young Men's Chorus," given by the "Ingram Meets" House Choir.

Prolonged applause greeted each number presented by the singers, all of whom wore costumes of "Old-Time" and the principals were forced to respond to many encores.

Rhythmic Steps Delight.
"Ye Classe in Rhythmic Dancing of ye Johnson-Powell School, under the direction of Miss Edith Hunter," created a furore.

Those in the grand chorus were Freda Beall, E. H. Phillips, Anna Hamilton, Arthur Carroll, Evelyn Gascoigne, J. Gascoigne, James H. Gascoigne, Dorothy Jacobs, Elizabeth Pyle, Nettie Thompson, Esther Thompson, Ruth Thompson, Gertrude Thompson, Florence Dietrich, Ada Piler, Adelaide Boyd, Mildred Stephenson, Helen Thomas, Charles Frowbridge, Tittman, Mary Cook, Elena A. Campbell, Charles Beall, Earl Phillips, Earl Anderson, G. A. Garbner, H. H. Hewitt, J. B. Peat, Albert Dietrich, G. A. Johnson, Royden J. Dixon, Carl Millard, H. H. Hewitt, E. A. Sullivan, C. Swain, Theodore Robb, Arthur Robb, Albert Ford, Lewis Arway, Harpethorpe, J. Smith, Spinnett, and E. A. Sullivan.

Counts Week a Success.
In a brief address last night, Robert Lawrence, who has worked indefatigably for six months for the interests of Washington's Music Week, thanked the citizens of Washington for the great success of the week. He said that while the committee charge had been handicapped by the recent rain, the committee, which had prevented the contemplated sale of the streets of the official program, the tremendous crowds that had turned out during the week proved beyond question that Washington would ultimately support good music.

The director also praised the assistance rendered him by Miss Alice Pollock of the community center department of the public schools, "without which I would have been utterly at sea."

The total amount derived from the different sources of revenue had not been tabulated last night, but it is thought there will be a deficit of several thousand dollars.

President Hears Program.
Surrounded by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Gen. and Mrs. Frank W. Ballou, President and Mrs. Harding displayed evident delight in the program presented by the Schola Cantorum, the J. L. Hudson male quartet of Detroit, the Norfolk trio of New York and Miss Sallie Hamilton, recited Lincoln's Gettysburg address at the White House yesterday afternoon.

In a brief address following the singing of "Keep On Hopin'," by Robert Lawrence, organizing director, President Harding thanked the singers and musicians for the music brought to the White House.

LOCAL ATTORNEY FACING MOTION FOR DISBARMENT

Ethelbert B. Frey Accused by Bar Grievance Committee of Unprofessional Conduct.

Chief Justice McCoy and Associate Justices Siddons and Koehling yesterday heard testimony before the bar grievance committee of the bar against Ethelbert B. Frey, who was charged that Frey procured the signing of a divorce decree by Justice Bailey without filing proof of publication of service on an absent defendant and without appearing in the court that such proof was lacking.

Called as a witness Justice Bailey declared he had no recollection of the case and was unable to say whether the lawyer had advised him the necessary proof of publication had not been filed. Attorney Roger J. Waitford for the grievance committee read into the record two entries showing that a decree was signed in 1919 and that the proofs of publication were not filed until December last after the matter had been called to the attention of the law by the late Justice James S. Easby-Smith for the respondent objected to testimony concerning correspondence between Frey and Easby-Smith, secretary of the grievance committee, but the court overruled the objection and Col. Easby-Smith testified that Frey claims that he told the court that the publication had appeared but that the formal proof had not been filed.

The case was not completed and will be resumed tomorrow, when evidence will also be heard concerning a second charge of professional misconduct by the grievance committee against Frey.

ITALIANS TO KEEP DAY.

Constitution Day Fete Arranged for Today at Embassy.

The "Constitution day" of Italy will be celebrated by local Italians at the Italian embassy at 11 o'clock this morning. Ambassador Ricci will make an address.

The Italian constitution was reformed in 1848, after a fierce struggle, which brought such names as Garibaldi and Joseph Mazzini. Mazzini was the chief factor in the establishment of the present constitution and was the leader of the then newly formed young Italy party.

PHONE GIRL SHOCKED.

Miss Rhona E. Shank, telephone operator at police headquarters, received a severe shock yesterday afternoon during the storm. She was plugging in a start an electric fan when suddenly there was a flash and mild report, and she was thrown from her feet.

She was able to walk from the building to a waiting automobile, in which she was driven to Emergency Hospital, and treated for painful burns to her right hand.

It is thought the storm had nothing to do with short-circuiting the connection, similar trouble with the plug having been experienced by Emmett Bateman, an operator, several days ago. Miss Shank was taken to her home, 605 9th street northeast, after receiving treatment.

Cleveland is to have a half-million-dollar apartment house, specially designed for business and professional women.

Taylor, who was appointed to represent the Washington teachers at the convocation.

WANT NEW BRIDGE NAMED AFTER KEY

Citizens Ask That Name Be Given in Place of Aqueduct.

The new bridge being constructed across the Potomac river to replace the Aqueduct bridge, should be officially designated as the Francis Scott Key bridge, according to the resolution of Citizens' Associations, which at a meeting last night in the boardroom of the District Building, adopted a resolution to that effect. H. B. Todd, who as chairman of the committee on highways, parks and waterways, offered the resolution in which it was set forth that this would be a fitting tribute to the memory of "that distinguished patriot and author of the Star Spangled Banner."

Upon Mr. Todd's recommendation the association adopted also a resolution recommending the transfer of the Bartholdi fountain in the Botanic Gardens to the government reservation at Harvard, 18th and Mount Pleasant streets northwest, when the garden is moved from its present site.

Fiscal Committee Praised.
The manner in which the citizens' joint committee on District of Columbia fiscal relations was formed and a brief summary of its progress in its fight before Congress was described by William Henry Whyte, chairman of the committee on law and legislation of the federation. He declared that the committee is very representative and that it is doing a splendid and wonderful work.

It's task is a tremendous one," Mr. Whyte explained, "and its members will need every bit of help and cooperation that can be given by the citizenship of this city. The committee must keep everlastingly at its task. It must be prepared now and all future times when the question arises to answer the questions of the fiscal relations between the District and federal governments. It must fight doggedly for the interests of the citizens of the Capital."

Traction Merger Favored.
The association adopted the report of the committee on public utilities, offered by W. McKee Clayton, secretary, which called for the merger of the demand for the necessary congressional legislation to accomplish the merger of the street railway and electric light company without further delay.

Following a prolonged discussion, the request of the newly organized Dupont Circle Citizens' Association to have the federal government assign Martin Wiegand, police and fire, S. Hubacher, public celebrations; E. B. Frey, lower membership; J. E. Richardson, membership; S. J. Clarke, charities and correction; G. A. Southworth, public health; T. A. Kelley, public celebrations and J. A. Kiernan, police and fire.

$320 DISAPPEARS DURING DRY RAD

Brother of Victim Held After Search Exonerates Agents.

A charge that $320 had disappeared from the home of Joseph Hipkins and Rose Hipkins, his wife, both colored, during an alleged bootleg raid at their home, 1121 29th street, yesterday afternoon, was quickly disposed of by Capt. Bean of the seventh precinct.

Seventh precinct policemen and a revenue agent raided the Hipkins home and found twenty-five one-half gallon jars of corn whiskey, they reported, and charges of selling and illegal possession of liquor were preferred against them.

Raiders Are Searched.
It was when they reached the police station that Mrs. Hipkins is alleged to have made the charge of the disappearance of the money. The revenue policemen and revenue agent quickly expressed a willingness to submit to search and Detective Thompson and Embrey were summoned to supervise the investigation.

Hipkins and his wife emptied the contents of their pockets. The wife had more than $400 in her possession, while her husband's cash capital totaled less than $50. Before the police investigation was concluded and about the time bond was given for the appearance of the husband and wife, Ralph Thompson, half-brother of Mrs. Hipkins, appeared with the box the latter said had contained the missing money.

Charged With Larceny.
Thompson told the police he found the box containing the money in a secret hiding place behind a washbasin. His half-sister had said it contained $320, and the police accused Thompson of responsibility for the alleged disappearance. A charge of grand larceny was preferred against Thompson, and he was locked up.

Harry Ira Baer, in the luncheon room at 3225 M street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by police of the seventh precinct and charged with illegal possession and sale of liquor. Police of the seventh precinct, led by Capt. Bean, made the arrest. They reported the seizure of five one-half gallon jars of corn whiskey.

PEOPLES CLASS INDUSTRIAL HOME

Children Safer There Than in Homes Say Civic Club Women.

Protest against the closing of the Industrial Home School on Wisconsin avenue July 1, which will result in the farming out to homes in Washington and nearby Virginia of the children quartered there, will be made to the Commissioners tomorrow by a committee of women representing a number of civic, welfare and parents' organizations. These women decided to take such action at a luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Harrington Hotel.

It was charged that already a number of the children have been taken from the school and placed in private homes in Washington where conditions menace their health and morals. The school, it was contended, is a far better and safer place for these children and it should be kept in operation as long as Congress appropriates funds for its maintenance.

Investigation Demanded.
Following the meeting, Mrs. L. M. Clements of the Congress Hall Hotel sent a letter to the officials of the board of children's guardians, demanding an investigation of the placing of the inmates of the school in private homes, which she described as "trafficking in children." The communication cited several specific cases, which Mrs. Clements said should be investigated.

In one instance, the letter indirectly charged that as many as nine children at one time had been placed in a house in southeast Washington. This house, it was said, is of frame construction, containing but five rooms, two of these being bedrooms, has no bath, no side ventilation and no yard for play.

Children Locked Out.
It was declared that the woman in charge of this house, locked the children out of the house at night when she went out, and they were forced to sit on the curb as late as 11 o'clock awaiting her return. Another case was cited where as many as twelve children were kept in a house in Harvard, Va., and they were "insufficiently fed and clothed. These children were so hungry, it was said, that they frequently begged food from their class mate's lunches.

The communication asserted that when the children are moved from house to house, as often as five times a month, "the board of children's guardians," said the letter, "will no doubt be very willing to give their reasons for this migratory life the children in their care are subjected to."

250 RENT CASES WILL BE PUSHED

Commission Determined to Rigidly Enforce Decisions.

Determined to enforce rigidly its rental decisions, the District Rent Commission has placed in the hands of its attorney, Chapin Brown, nearly 250 cases in which landlords will be sued for a refundment of excess rents, totaling about $36,000.

These cases are being rapidly filed in the Municipal Court by Attorney Brown. If the court sustains the suits, filed on behalf of the tenants by the commission, the landlords will be ordered to pay the amount referred to their tenants, but will be required to pay into the United States Treasury an equal amount, and to pay an attorney's fee of $50 for each case. This, it is estimated by Waldo E. Chapman, secretary of the Rent Commission, should amount to an approximate loss by landlords of nearly $100,000.

The disclosure that so many landlords have failed to abide by the decisions of the Rent Commission is causing lowering of rents in their houses and apartments, was brought about recently with the inauguration of a new "slow-up" system adopted by the commission. Under this procedure tenants and landlords favored in rental determinations are called on, sometimes several months after the decision becomes effective, to fill out a questionnaire, stating whether or not the landlords or tenants have failed to carry out the orders of the commission.

Approximately 400 of these questionnaires have been filled out to date, and of this number more than half reported non-compliance with the orders of the commission. In the case of tenants who fail to pay increased rents ordered by the commission, the Municipal Court, where they can put the tenants for non-payment of rent.

KU KLUX INITIATION IS HELD ON POTOMAC

Ceremony Carried Out Beside Flaming Cross on Launch. Over 100 in Party.

Beside a flaming cross on the launch Nancy Lee in the middle of the Potomac river between Jones Island and the Ku Klux Klan of the District of Columbia last night staged one of the most novel and sensational ceremonies in the history of the organization.

More than 100 members of the Klan attended the ceremony. The launch, which was chartered for the purpose, left the 11th street wharf at 7 o'clock, returning with the klansmen about three hours later. Garbed in their white robes and singing patriotic airs and southern melodies, the klansmen on the launch attracted considerable attention from passing boats. As the Nancy Lee neared Hains' point at the south end of the speedway, the white-robed knights sang the national anthem and were applauded by spectators in the Potomac Park. Although the klansmen were robed, the visors of their long-peaked helmets had been removed in order not to violate the law.

EX-CONGRESSMAN HELD.

Van Duzer Charged With Passing Worthless Checks.

Clarence Dunn Van Duzer, fifty-eight years old, former member of Congress from Nevada, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Walsh and King for the authorities at Warburg, Tenn. His arrest was requested in a letter received by representative Wynne F. Glouse of Tennessee and turned over to Inspector Grant.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS' WOULD DISPEL WAR

Working in Union With Fellows in Allied Countries, Will Seek to Protest Peace.

Exertion of the influence of engineers of this country in union with engineers of the allied nations toward obtaining permanent world peace and to aid in dispelling war clouds from the international horizon last night were declared the official aims of the principal American engineering societies, in a statement issued from New York city.

This declaration of purpose, it was explained by Ambrose Swasey of Cleveland, founder of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, outlined in the bill, "a declaration of the American engineers' society club in this city, recently given by Ambassador Jusserand to a group of leading American engineers. This function, it was stated, was arranged by the French envoy to express his appreciation of the visit to Paris last year of the American engineering mission of thirteen who conferred the Legion of Honor medal upon Eugene Schneider, head of the famed Crueset works and Sir Robert Hadfield of London.

OLD RECIPROCITY FIGHT UP AGAIN

Senate Democrats and Republicans Wrangle Over Canada Tariff Items.

A battle between republicans and democrats over the old issue of Canadian reciprocity and restoration to the free list of two important building materials, common brick and cement, featured yesterday's Senate consideration of the tariff bill.

Brick and cement went on the free list after recent democratic attack on duties originally proposed with a proviso offered by Chairman McCumber and admitted aimed at Canadian brick and cement that imports into this country should pay a tariff equal to that levied against American brick and cement of other countries. Senator McCumber said the proviso was designed to protect a few brick and cement manufacturers along the Canadian border. During the debate Senator McCumber declared that general Canadian reciprocity was a "dead letter" and he had so informed a representative of the Canadian government. Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, on the other hand, advocated free trade with Canada, "by removal of all barriers of protection and said the republicans, by refusing to put the Canadian general reciprocity law into effect, were responsible for high Canadian tariffs and resultant loss of trade.

Sees Sentiment Changed.
Mr. Underwood declared that Canadian sentiment had changed since a popular vote rejected the Taft reciprocity treaty and now he said the Canadians would be glad to enter into a new pact.

Opposing the retaliatory proviso, Senator Stanley of Kentucky, protested against what he said was a policy of retaliation against Canada, outlined in the bill. He declared that the attempt to build up a tariff wall along the Canadian border was "a gratuitous slap in the face of Canada" and was "the most inconsiderable and unwise and the smallest piece of politics ever played by intelligent legislators."

Fighting the duty of 25 per cent, ad valorem on fire, chrome and bath brick, which was approved by the tariff committee, Senator Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Senate committee on commerce of the republican agricultural tariff bloc, in whose state he said there were two small fire brick kilns employing 100 men.

Senator Gooding, in reply, declared that it was "un-American" to oppose tariff protection for American industries needing that protection and asserted that the duty would not increase prices on brick except, perhaps, in the Pacific northwest.

Oppose McCumber Proviso.
Democrats, joined by a few republicans, opposed the McCumber proviso restoring brick and cement to the free list. Originally brick was taxed 25 per cent ad valorem and cement five cents a hundred pounds. The Canadian rates are 22 1/2 per cent on brick and eleven cents a hundred on cement.

A motion by Senator Underwood to strike out the McCumber proviso as to brick was defeated, 42 to 31, three republicans, Borah of Idaho, Cummings of Iowa and La Follette of Wisconsin, joining democrats supporting the motion. An equal number of democrats, Broussard and Randall of Louisiana and Kendrick of Wyoming, voted with the republican majority in sustaining the proviso.

After the Senate had voted on the proviso, Senator Underwood moved a 2,087 committee amendments to the bill, that the Senate take action on only 200 of them in seven weeks and that at this rate it would take fifty-seven weeks to dispose of the committee amendments alone. He added that with the same progress the bill would die on next March 4.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, said in reply that it was extraordinary beyond precedent that any committee should report a bill with 2,087 amendments and that unless the committee receded from many of its amendments it would be better for the country if it took fifty-seven years to pass the measure.

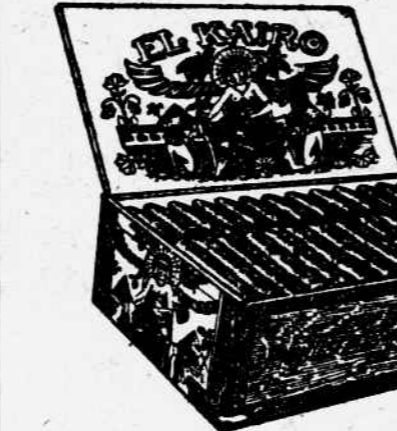

BOOTLEG RUNNING LOW.

Police Records Show Fewer Arrests in Week's Violations.

Eleven hundred and fifty-one arrests were made by the local police the past week, those for intoxication numbering 168. Arrests for alleged violations of the Volstead act, the police state, indicates a lessening of the bootleg business.

The records show the liquor violation arrests as follows: selling liquor, fourteen; illegal possession of liquor, twenty-two; transportation of liquor, nine; failing to pay revenue tax, five; manufacturing intoxicants, one, and drinking in public, one.

Arrests for violating the traffic regulations in the past week totaled 580. There were 234 arrests for speeding, and five for driving automobiles under the influence of liquor.
